About the conference

Objectives

The ultimate objective of the SUPPORT project is to promote high quality ESD. Current issues and findings in ESD will be presented and discussed, thus building a shared understanding of the challenges of reorienting education policy, school development and teaching practice to develop competencies needed for sustainable development. Findings from the SUPPORT network will be presented with a view to dissemination and exploitation. Through group work and discussions, the conference participants will develop an agenda for action and priorities for the continuation of the UN Decade for ESD at levels ranging from the classroom to educational policy.

Methodology

Keynote inputs will provide current perspectives on the learning outcomes of ESD, methodologies for achieving these outcomes, and the challenge of developing effective educational policy and practice in ESD. Group work and poster sessions will provide opportunities for exchange of experience and discussion of factors facilitating or hindering the development of education systems in Europe to support high quality ESD. In particular, the conference will focus on how pupils can participate in local and global sustainability issues, how schools can collaborate with community and research, and how ICT tools can promote partnership and participation in ESD. The discussion will draw heavily on the results of SUPPORT including concrete experiences in European and other countries, a book on school collaboration in ESD and an innovative school campaign "CO₂nnect: CO₂ on the way to school," see www.co2nnect.org.

Follow-up

The results of the conference will be published and disseminated. Participants will follow up the training by integrating greater awareness and understanding of the dynamics of educational change for ESD in their own educational institutions and settings.
