6. CoDeS Case Blogs – open for your participation!

CoDeS Case Blog is a tool created by CoDeS to disseminate exemplary case studies on School community collaboration for ESD collected by CoDeS partners and associates members. Each case is written in two languages: English and the mother tongue of the case authors, and includes the following aspects: focus, schools, community, collaboration, tools, value and authorship. The cases can be found in the main page <https://codescases.wordpress.com/> and can be sorted by categories (country, actors, schools, communities, sustainability field, tools) that allow users to perform a specific search. In this page you can read the abstract of all CoDeS cases and find a link to its blog. There is a blog for each case and all of them follow the same structure. You can see an example here: <http://codesdomzale.wordpress.com>. You can find more information about the cases and documents describing the exact way on how to write a case in order to help us build your CoDeS case blog at <https://www.dropbox.com/sh/mcy7hyfb0enpyqs/e2Kct6XTu->
